A NEWSPAPER CLIPPING REPORTING THE DEATH OF LUTICIA GENTIS SCHLAGENHAUF
WHO DIED OCTOBER 14, 1896:

MRS. JOHN SCHLAGENHAUF: Last Wednesday occurred the death of Mrs. John Schlagenhauf at her home near Kreps. Her maiden name was Letitia Gentis. She was borne in Clark County, Ohio, April 6, 1845 and came to this County with her parents in an early day and settled near Kreps.

She was married to John Schlagenhauf November 17, 1866. To this union were born eight children all of whom still survive as follows: Catherine Myers, George, Emma, Minnie Blocker, Edward, Mary, Fred and Henry. All her children were at her bedside when she died.

She united with the Evangelical Association many years ago under the labors of Rev. J. Fox and remained a faithful and devoted member until death. She was patient and submissive during a year or more of suffering with that dread disease consumption. Her death occurred Wednesday October 14 at the age of 51 years, 5 months, and 8 days. Her funeral was held at Salem Church Friday October 16 conducted by her pastor Rev. N. J. Platz of Vera Cruz. A very large concourse of neighbors and friends assembled to pay their last regards to one whom they loved and respected, many being unable to get inside the church. Her remains were laid to rest in the adjacent cemetery.

MEMORIES OF JOHN SCHLAGENHAUF AS OF JANUARY, 1977: (By His Grandchildren)

DALE SCHLAGENHAUF remembers his grandfather coming past to take him along to Vera Cruz. The horse's name was Della and in color it was between a black and a bay. Grandpa Schlagenhauf would talk in German with Jake Rolli at the hardware store.

MARIE SCHLAGENHAUF NEUSBAUM: "I will never forget Grandpa Schlagenhauf. I had earache so often. He smoked a pipe and I would sit on his lap in front of the cook stove, with the oven door open. He would smoke his pipe, would hold his mouth full of smoke, then cup his hands to my ear and blow the smoke slowly into my ear. It took a few puffs but it always helped. We were always happy to see him coming down the road."

CAROLL SCHLAGENHAUF HOOK: "I always thought of Grandpa as being a lonely old man, but I can see now that he wasn't for he lived with Uncle Ed's and his large family; but I can't remember of Grandpa going anyplace much....I can remember we were in World War I and Grandpa was not an American citizen, so he had to be naturalized which was something at his age...I can remember his garden didn't have a weed. I especially remember his tobacco. He would cut it and hang it in his workshop to dry. I can still smell it....His workshop, as I remember it, was cleaner than my house. I also remember how he would braid the onion tops in clusters and hang them in the woodhouse to dry....He worked in the woods until it always looked like a park....I can still see Grandpa walking around the house from the back to the front yard out under the old pear tree to sit on his bench and smoke his pipe...I remember the day of his funeral. It was in February and the mud was deep. Mother couldn't go as she was pregnant with Lawrence. Dad and I pretty near got stuck in the mud out in Uncle Ed's barnyard. They had forgotten to put our car in the funeral line...I expect we kids made him mad more than once, but I always liked Grandpa Schlagenhauf. The way dad always talked, Grandma must have been a grand person too."

CLAUDE SCHLAGENHAUF: "I do have a fond memory of my Grandfather John Schlagenhauf. As a child, while Grandpa lived, from the time the fall winds started to blow until spring, I would develop terrible ear aches. Mother would heat some kind of medicine and drop it in my ears. I don't recall of it ever stopping the pain. Grandpa knew of these ear aches and was visiting one day when the medicine had no effect. He asked mother if he could try and "blow it out" (the pain) with his pipe smoke. She replied that it might help keep me quiet a few minutes, but she didn't have any faith in his old pipe smoke having any healing power. He lifted me to his lap and after two or three puffs into my ear the pain stopped. It took several ear aches and a few calls for Grandpa to convince mother the pipe smoke had any healing power. From then on I wasn't kept waiting long for Grandpa to come with his pipe."

MIRIAM FULLER MAGNUSSON: "I can remember his beard, and see him sitting on that back porch, and remember he wouldn't let us play around the old cistern or well."

RUBY, DEVONA, LELA AND MARCELLA HAVE GIVEN THEIR REMEMBRANCES AS FOLLOWS: "The family of Ed Schlagenhauf lived with Grandpa from 1908 until his death. Living with seven children, three being born in that period of time, explain these memories. ...He ate pie every morning for breakfast...He spent much of his time in the woods keeping it clean. He had a garden in the woods and he built a fence around it to keep the cows out... He raised tobacco to smoke in his pipe. They remember helping him harvest it and helping him to put it up to dry. Eileen has the trunk that he stored his tobacco in after it dried. They remember how terrible his pipe tobacco smelled. He had a favorite straight back chair that he used to read his German paper in and smoke his pipe...One Sunday morning Lela was ill and couldn't go to church so she stayed home with Grandpa. There was a caravan of Gypsies in covered wagons came. Grandpa had gone outside so they wouldn't come into the house. Ruby remembers they got some pennies from Grandpa's pocket, but they left with no trouble...Grandpa usually stayed with the children if Mom and Dad went away.... One day while he was sitting with the six kids they had a water battle. Grandpa's good coat was hanging on a hook on the back porch, and of course it got wet. He didn't spank them but they remember it very well, so he must have made a point...In January of 1919 there was a flu epidemic. Grandpa was sick for three weeks and recuperated. He then had a setback which was fatal in February. He slept and died in a cherry, four poster bed that he had made. Ruby has it now...In his earlier years he had a shop where he made caskets in Vera Cruz."

HELEN MYERS JEFFREY: "My own recollections of Grandpa are rather limited. Since we were not in close proximity to him and his family--we had to rely on the inter-urban in those long-ago days--my visits were rather infrequent. My childhood was insecure and very sad, as our mother was lingering with tuberculosis, and it was natural that I was apprehensive as to what would become of me, the youngest child in the family...I remember so well the night our heroic and wonderful little mother died. Grandpa Schlagenhauf was at our house as we were expecting her death. He and I were sleeping in the same bedroom. I was asleep and he came to my bed and awakened me, telling me to go downstairs that "my mama" was dying. The family was at her bedside, and I recall as I walked into her room, how, for the first time in my young childhood I sensed my aloneness. I remember Grandpa reaching into his coat pocket and giving me some peppermints...I recall him meeting me, once, at Poneto, with his horse and buggy, and calling me "Hay-len". And I can see him holding one of Uncle Ed's babies in his arms, and I remember thinking what a sensitive face he had, and how distinguished he looked...I was always in awe of Grandpa, and just a little hesitant and afraid. I suppose it was because I wasn't around him very much and didn't know him. When I graduated I went to Muncie to seek my livelihood and career, so I did not have much contact with Grandpa before he died...How very sorry and disconsolate I am that I could not have really known this august and worthwhile gentleman, who did so much with his life. What a paramount example he is, of courage, fineness of living, hard work, and honor, to today's youth. And while my memory of him grows rosier with the years, my admiration and pride of belonging to him is indescribably beautiful."

JUNIOR W. MYERS SHARES THESE LINES ABOUT HIS 1976 TRIP TO GERMANY: "I found your history to be correct on the birthplace of John Schlagenhauf to a degree. The village (perhaps 150 - 200 people) is Tieringen, in the state of Württemberg. I do not know what the "Gruss" in the history refers to...In visiting the village we visited the house where John Schlagenhauf lived and the church (the only one in the village) where he worshipped. It is very beautiful and surrounded by a wall with graves inside the wall...To the best of my knowledge there are no Schlagenhauf graves but there are Mertz graves. The date on the Church is 1831...To find the village of "Tieringen" we drove west from Munich (München) to Augsburg and then to Ulm. At Ulm we drove southwest to Riedlinger. After Riedlinger it is quite difficult for further directions since the village of Tieringen was not even shown on a German road map. After going south from Riedlinger it is almost directly north of Zurich, Switzerland...Tieringen is in the state of Württemberg. It is located in the Swabian mountains and the Donau Valley. This is very, very beautiful country...I was in the village of Tieringen for approximately one hour. The village itself has possibly thirty-five houses, mostly with barns attached to them...I found the house where John Schlagenhauf lived. It is now occupied by a lady by the name of Frida Mattes. She is very elderly but supposedly remembers purchasing the house from a Schlagenhauf...The village--like all villages and towns in Württemberg and Bavaria--was so very clean and orderly. The farms were clean and much farm work is still accomplished by hand and horse-drawn machinery, as well as small tractors. It appeared that the farmers live in the tiny village and then they work the fields around the village...We found the people most friendly and helpful."

SOME LINES FROM A LETTER TO J.W. MYERS FROM DWIGHT A. YORDY, 4/16/1976:

"My Grandfather, Andrew Schlagenhauf, always told us that he came from Wittenberg, Germany. He said the first job he had, when he left his parents' home, was a job in a brick yard. Then he was hired by a Boot and Shoe Maker, which is where he learned his trade before coming to America. He also told us that he walked from Fort Wayne, Indiana to Linn Grove, Indiana where he set up a shop in one room of his home. My mother was Mathilda Ann Schlagenhauf, the daughter of Andrew Schlagenhauf, who was the brother of John Schlagenhauf."

NOTES:

*** The newspaper article above gives Grandma Schlagenhauf's birth date as April 6. Our original history gave it as May 8. I am not sure where we got the May 8 date but it was surely from some family records and I assume that it is the correct date.

*** Dwight Yordy refers to "Wittenberg", but I wonder if this should not be "Württemberg" as per J.W. Myers' letter.

VI. E X P L A N A T I O N

The 1200 year old village, Oberdigisheim, three miles distant from Tieringen, has 760 inhabitants. It is my birth and home-place, and also that of all your and my ancestors. From Oberdigisheim too are descended nearly all Schlagenhaufs who live in the state of Würtemberg, and generally in Germany, since the last four centuries.

In earlier times, during hundreds of years, Oberdigisheim was the home-place of brickmakers. Lots of men of that village worked on this trade. My father Wilhelm and grandfather Johann Jacob were possessors of a hand-brickworks. When I was still a boy I too had to help in the brickhut.

Our area, that part of Würtemberg, has a sterile soil and before the small farmers who had a little piece of land got artificial manure, they had been very poor. And, before there was industry, the other population had a scanty life too. Therefore some young people moved to Switzerland, a neutral, politically securer, economically better, financially stable country. I have many close Schlagenhauf cousins in Switzerland, although our relationships are not close.

Migrating to the far America demanded very much more daring, although already 150 years ago some courageous and brave young people, young men full of high pioneer spirit and urge for action, made up their minds and went off to the U.S.A. to find, by very hard work and efforts, a better life and existence. Such a great and famous ancestor was Johannes Schlagenhauf, 1838 - 1919.

I. THE SCHLAGENHAUF NAME:

We are indebted to Siegbert Schlagenhauf, son of Rudolph, for the following information from a book which he consulted at the University in Freiburg. The book was: DIE DEUTSCHEN FAMILIENNAMEN, by Heintze-Casorbi, Berlin, 1933. (I am not sure that all is a direct quote from the book)

JSH

"Schlagdenhauffen": Satz-Namen für einen tapferen Dreinschläger, auch "Schlaginhaufen".

"Slahinhauffen" wird in den Bamberger Urkunden seit 1439 erwähnt; auch: "Schlagenhauf(en)".

Zusammengezogen kommt der Name vor als: "Schleihau", "Schlagenhaft" (Bamberg); "Schlagenhof"; "Schlangenhaufen" (Graz) "Schlagauf"

Ähnlich sind folgende Abwandlungen:

"Schlagenteuffel", "Schlagngaul", "Schlagentweit(h)", "Schlagintweit"

Der Name "Schlagenhauf" gehört zu den Familiennamen der III.

Schicht, in denen bestimmte Eigenschaften zu Namen gemacht werden, wie z.B. Zorn, Ohnesorge, Winter.

II. FIRE DESTROYS SCHLAGENHAUF HOME:

In a letter dated October 28, 1978, Rudolph Schlagenhauf wrote:

"Some months ago the birth home of John Schlagenhauf at Tieringen was burned up. Not completely, but it could not be saved because the house was too old."

He then translated a newspaper article describing the fire:

Messstetten - Tieringen: The farmhouse in the Neuen Street 20 at Tieringen, where Frieda Mattes lived, her daughter Paula Kornhäss and son Werner Mattes, was in bright flames yesterday. The fire began about 1:30 in the afternoon. Grandmother Frieda Mattes (78) had lain in bed until that time, but people were able to save her. At about 2:00 the voluntary fire department from Tieringen arrived and also the support-point-defence of Messstetten under the direction of Gotthilf Eppler. By using vehicles TSF8, LF 16, TLF 16 and DL 30 they very quickly had the fire under control. The fire caused damage to the property of about 200,000 Marks. Around the place of the conflagration the rumor circulated among the curious crowds that arson had been the cause of the fire. The criminal investigation police of Albstadt will trace this supposition. Present at the scene were also Mayor Gomeringer, Chief Magistrate Schiele, government official Hummel, and city manager Zimmermann. A roomer in the house, Hermann Mipp, also suffered material loss in the mishap. A fire fighter from Tieringen also had to be taken to the county hospital in Balingen.
